OUR APPROACH

Plan India's unique rights based approach puts children and youth at the heart of everything we do - whether it is long term development work or humanitarian response. It enables us to address the root cause of child poverty. Our distinctive approach to creating a lasting change for excluded children and ending child poverty is called Child Centred Community Development (CCCD). Our approach is built on two principles:

1. Ensuring that all girls and boys realise their full rights by putting them at the heart of our endeavours
2. Supporting groups of people to come together, mobilise and tackle issues that affect them
